
Supplementary Fig. 1. Criteria for successful AI-based lesion detection. Detection was considered successful when the distance (yellow line) between the center point (red dot) of the AI-detected lesion (red line) and the center point (blue dot) of reference standard (blue line), divided by the maximum width of the reference lesion passing through its center, was 0.5.